Geology 1

This one year course investigates the Earth; introducing students to the nature, processes and formation of Earth’s material and the majors features of the earth’s crust and topography. This course will consider the mineralogy of the rocks, different rock types and structures, and consider the various geologic agents and processes that produce, shape and modify the surface environment. Detailed consideration will be given to the internal processes that shape the earth’s surface, including plate tectonics, igneous activities, weathering, erosion and deposition and earthquakes, and to the rise and decay of mountains, moving water, glaciers, deserts, shorelines and oceans, while investigating the impact of humans in their environment in terms of pollution and conservation. Hands-on activities are an important part of the curriculum in order to reinforce student understanding of scientific investigation and experimentation in the realm of Geology. An understanding of Geology is a practical pursuit. The informed citizen must recognize the causes and implications of natural hazards such as earthquake fault zones, volcanic regions, and flood zones. Knowledge of the mechanisms behind such hazards allows the citizen to plan and make educated decisions affecting their economic and personal well-being. By exploring our planet, we also gain a clearer understanding of the capabilities of our technological society and of the natural resources that sustain it.

GATE Language Arts 7
Seventh grade GATE Language Arts provides opportunities for students to build on skills they learned in 6th grade. Students will have opportunities to solve problems and participate in simulations. They will read, analyze, and respond to classic and contemporary literature in a variety of ways, from literature circles to written analysis to student authored-and-published writing.

Grades: 07

Schools Offered: Dodge Traditional Magnet Middle, Doolen Middle School, Pistor Middle School, Vail Middle School, Valencia Middle School

Year: GATE Language Arts 7 - 35577

GATE Language Arts 8
Eighth Grade GATE Language Arts provides opportunities to build on skills from 7th and go broader and deeper in 8th, e.g., public speaking in 7th and formal debate in 8th. Students will read, analyze, and respond to both classic and contemporary literature in a variety of ways. They will read and analyze poetry from Shakespeare to Langston Hughes and more. They will write persuasively, developing strong arguments. A TUSD GATE Middle School education is one way to prepare students for the rigor of AP, IB, and/or University High School.

Year: GATE Math 6 - 43635
GATE Math 7

In grade seven, students will further develop their understanding of rates and ratios, using tables, graphs, and equations to solve real-world problems involving proportional relationships. Students will also work on quickly and accurately solving multi-step problems involving positive and negative rational numbers, any number that can be made by dividing one integer by another, such as 0.75, or 2. Additionally, students will expand their knowledge of geometry and apply the properties of operations to solve real world problems involving the measurement of multi-dimensional objects.

For example:

Solving multi-step word problems by adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing positive and negative rational numbers in any form (including whole numbers, fractions, or decimals).

Converting rational numbers to decimals using long division.

GATE Science 6

In 6th grade science, students study the disciplines of life science, environmental science, and atmospheric science. Through scientific practices and integrated curriculum students explore how life’s diversity is expressed through adaptation. In physical science students develop a foundational understanding of energy concepts and systems, including types, sources, and uses. They also learn how weather and climate are the result of interactions among Earth’s water, its atmosphere and the Sun’s heating of Earth’s surface. During the earth and space studies students learn about the environment as the physical, chemical and biological conditions of the region in which an organism lives and they explore the impact of human activities on diverse environments. This class is taught from the GATE perspective which offers a curriculum that is typically enriched to offer increased connections to multiple content areas, extensions to further concepts, and a greater depth of understanding than the related courses. A student may only enroll in a GATE core content class if they have previously qualified for placement.

Grades: 06

Schools Offered: Doolen Middle School, Drachman K-8 Montessori Magnet, Hollinger K-8, Mansfeld Magnet Middle School, Pistor Middle School, Pueblo Gardens K-8, Vail Middle School

Year: GATE Science 6 - 33586
GATE Science 7

In 7th grade science, students continue to refine their use of scientific practices that lead to deeper understanding of science concepts and skill development. Integrated curriculum promotes student engagement in content studies of earth history, ecology, and astronomy. Students examine the complex relationships that exist between living and non-living parts of an ecosystem, and how and when changes occur in the system. Through the study of the Earth as a geographically active planet, with huge quantities of energy always acting on its surface and interior, students build a mental model of the geographic history of the planet. In astronomy, students collect observational data and create claims using evidence and reasoning about concepts of gravity, seasons, phases of the Moon and the apparent daily movement of the stars and the Sun to learn how the cosmos is organized. This class is taught from the GATE perspective which offers a curriculum that is typically enriched to offer increased connections to multiple content areas, extensions to further concepts, and a greater depth of understanding than the related courses. A student may only enroll in a GATE core content class if they have previously qualified for placement.

Grades: 07

Schools Offered: Dietz K-8, Doolen Middle School, Gridley Middle School, Hollinger K-8, Mansfeld Magnet Middle School, Morgan Maxwell K-8, Naylor K-8 (with Roberts), Pistor Middle School, Pueblo Gardens K-8, Utterback Middle School, Vail Middle School

Year: GATE Science 7 - 33587
GATE Science 8

In 8th grade science, students study life and physical science through integrated units of evolution/genetics, force & motion, and chemistry, and recognize how science is a process for generating knowledge. Students explore the idea that everything in the universe what we know is composed of matter and energy, and can be identified based on chemical and physical properties. Through experiential learning of forces and motion students develop an understanding of scientific laws and theories that explain the motion of everything in the universe. In the life science discipline students collect and analyze data on animal and plant characteristics to form generalizations and explanations about the basic principles of heredity. This class is taught from the GATE perspective which offers a curriculum that is typically enriched to offer increased connections to multiple content areas, extensions to further concepts, and a greater depth of understanding than the related courses. A student may only enroll in a GATE core content class if they have previously qualified for placement.

Year: Honors Science 6 - 33011

Honors Science 7

In 7th grade science, students continue to refine their use of scientific practices that lead to deeper understanding of science concepts and skill development. Integrated curriculum promotes student engagement in content studies of earth history, ecology, and astronomy. Students examine the complex relationships that exist between living and non-living parts of an ecosystem, and how and when changes occur in the system. Through the study of the Earth as a geographically active planet, with huge quantities of energy always acting on its surface and interior, students build a mental model of the geographic history of the planet. In astronomy, students collect observational data and create claims using evidence and reasoning about concepts of gravity, seasons, phases of the Moon and the apparent daily movement of the stars and the Sun to learn how the cosmos is organized. This class is taught from the Honors perspective and offers a curriculum that is typically enriched to offer the same material as the related courses, but in greater depth at a faster pace and use project based learning approach. Students and parents who feel their student would succeed in a more challenging environment may choose this course as an option.

Year: Honors Science 7 - 33012
Honors Science 8

In 8th grade science, students study life and physical science through integrated units of evolution/genetics, force & motion, and chemistry, and recognize how science is a process for generating knowledge. Students explore the idea that everything in the universe what we know is composed of matter and energy, and can be identified based on chemical and physical properties. Through experiential learning of forces and motion students develop an understanding of scientific laws and theories that explain the motion of everything in the universe. In the life science discipline students collect and analyze data on animal and plant characteristics to form generalizations and explanations about the basic principles of heredity. This class is taught from the Honors perspective and offers a curriculum that is typically enriched to offer the same material as the related courses, but in greater depth at a faster pace and use project based learning approach. Students and parents who feel their student would succeed in a more challenging environment may choose this course as an option.

Math 6

In grade six mathematics students will learn the concept of rates and ratios and use these tools to solve word problems. They will work on quickly and accurately dividing multi-digit whole numbers and adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing multi-digit decimals. Students will extend their previous work with fractions and decimals to understand the concept of rational numbers?any number that can be made by dividing one integer by another, such as ?, 0.75, or 2. Students will also learn how to write and solve equations?mathematical statements using symbols, such as 20+x = 35?and apply these skills in solving multi-step word problems. For example: ?Understanding that positive and negative numbers are located on opposite sides of 0 on a number line ? Using pairs of numbers, including negative numbers, as coordinates for locating or placing a point on a graph

In grade eight, students take their understanding of unit rates and proportional relationships to a new level, connecting these concepts to points on a line and ultimately using them to solve linear equations that require them to apply algebraic reasoning as well as knowledge of the properties of operations. Students will also expand their understanding of numbers beyond rational numbers to include numbers that are irrational? meaning that they cannot be written as a simple fraction, such as the square root of 2 or 2. For example: Understanding that a function is a rule that assigns to each value of x exactly one value of y, such as y=2x, a rule that would yield such ordered pairs as (-2,-4), (3,6), and (4,8) Learning and applying the Pythagorean Theorem (an equation relating the lengths of the sides of a right triangle: a² + b² = c²)

Math 8 Semester 1 (online)

In grade eight, students take their understanding of unit rates and proportional relationships to a new level, connecting these concepts to points on a line and ultimately using them to solve linear equations that require them to apply algebraic reasoning as well as knowledge of the properties of operations. Students will also expand their understanding of numbers beyond rational numbers to include numbers that are irrational? meaning that they cannot be written as a simple fraction, such as the square root of 2 or 2. For example: ? Understanding that a function is a rule that assigns to each value of x exactly one value of y, such as y=2x, a rule that would yield such ordered pairs as (-2, -4), (3,6), and (4,8) ? Learning and applying the Pythagorean Theorem (an equation relating the lengths of the sides of a right triangle: a^2 + b^2 = c^2)

Science 6

In 6th grade science, students study the disciplines of life science, environmental science, and atmospheric science. Through scientific practices and integrated curriculum students explore how life's diversity is expressed through adaptation. In physical science students develop a foundational understanding of energy concepts and systems, including types, sources, and uses. They also learn how weather and climate are the result of interactions among Earth's water, its atmosphere and the Sun's heating of Earth's surface. During the earth and space studies students learn about the environment as the physical, chemical and biological conditions of the region in which an organism lives and they explore the impact of human activities on diverse environments.

In 7th grade science, students continue to refine their use of scientific practices that lead to deeper understanding of science concepts and skill development. Integrated curriculum promotes student engagement in content studies of earth history, ecology, and astronomy. Students examine the complex relationships that exist between living and non-living parts of an ecosystem, and how and when changes occur in the system. Through the study of the Earth as a geographically active planet, with huge quantities of energy always acting on its surface and interior, students build a mental model of the geographic history of the planet. In astronomy, students collect observational data and create claims using evidence and reasoning about concepts of gravity, seasons, phases of the Moon and the apparent daily movement of the stars and the Sun to learn how the cosmos is organized.
